Live up to more

We are Barceló, hoteliers and proud to be so. For more than 2 generations we have had the privilege of sharing our vocation for service with our guests, always with an open attitude, approachable, and never pretentious. Yet we know this is not enough. We are never content to just be witnesses to all those instants, moments, experiences, memories, and remembrances that form part of our guests' experience at our hotels.

We go a step further. We create genuine moments that leave an impression. We never cease to question and improve all that we offer to our guests. We offer distinctive experiences that reach deep, not only because they are original and imaginative, but because they also anticipate the desires of our guests. That is going the extra mile. Our aim is not only to meet the expectations of our guests, but to take their experience with us beyond the conventional.
